Van Rippers Receive Letters of Thanks From South Dakota

Washington Couple Sponsor Loading 3 Cars of Food From This Area

FEED BADLY NEEDED

Letters Tell of Hardships Suffered by Residents and Livestock

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Van Riper, of Washington, route 2, who live near the Columbus community, are in receipt of a number of letters, three of which are printed below, from DeSmet and Yankton, South Dakota, to which three car loads of food and feed was donated by Hempstead county farmers and business men, during the past thirty days.

One letter, written by the mayor of Yankton, reads: "I have lived here in this state since 1883, and this is the first time I have seen livestock suffering for grain or from some sort of provender."

Another letter, from L. A. Johnson, pastor of the First Methodist church of DeSmet, tells of the suffering and want in his county.

Two more cars are expected to be loaded and shipped from Hope during this week.

The following letters tell how food and feed is appreciated:

R. F. D. Number 2,
Washington, Ark.

Dear Sir and Madam:

We acknowledge receipt of yours of the 22nd inst. enclosing bill of lading for car initial M. O. P. No. 85224, containing 370 bushels of hay and other items of food stuff for personal needs.

From the description in your letter and what we heard over the radio about the loading of this car, we certainly appreciate the efforts and hardships that you folks have gone to in this matter. It certainly is a splendid example of self sacrifice and your Americanism. We assure you we can make much good out of the hay and also of the personal food stuffs that you are including in this car. The car has not arrived here yet but we expect it most any time.

On behalf of the American Red Cross, the West Kingsbury County Relief Association and the County Commissioners of this county, let us thank you and each of those who have contributed to this car for their donation. The splendid way in which your people of Arkansas have responded to the call of need here in South Dakota is nothing less than remarkable. We assure you that the need is great here and that the food stuff and feed will be doled out only to those who are worthy and in need.

Yours very truly,
KINGSBURY COUNTY AMERICAN RED CROSS,
By Harry Egan,
Emergency Feed Relief Chairman.

P. S. The local station agent has just called and informed me that this car just came in.

H. J. E.

De Smet, South Dakota,

Oscar and Rhoda Van Riper,
Washington, Arkansas.
Gentlemen:

It gives me much pleasure to write this letter. Last year when we were busy here gathering food and clothing for the needy people of Arkansas we did not think that we would need help here any time in the future. However, this last season was the worst we have ever experienced. We had no crops at all. Many of our farmers have lost all. Others will be able to put in some crops this spring because so many people all over the country have sent in feed and food. You cannot imagine how much good your car of food and feed has done. It is wonderful to realize that the people we helped in the past have come to our aid in these trying times. The people that your donations have gone to

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—President Hoover Tuesday approved the Red Cross application for 5,000,000 bushels of wheat, owned by the government, destined for the South Dakota drought area.

This is the first application under legislation passed and signed Monday by the president, making 40,000,000 bushels of wheat available for relief.

31 Held For Riot at Ford Factory

Police Charge Communist Agitation Led Unemployed on Fatal March

DETROIT.—(AP)—Thirty-one persons are under arrest while state, city and federal officers Tuesday sought the men believed to have instigated a riot late Monday of unemployed men at Dearborn in which four persons were killed and scores injured and jailed.

Police are searching for Communist leaders.

William Z. Foster, veteran Communist agitator, was accused in some quarters of having launched the parade against the two-mile "front" of the Ford Motor company's factories, although he was not believed to have participated in the actual march.

Many of the wounded told Henry and Edsel Ford, who visited them afterward in the hospitals, that they knew nothing of the leaders of the parade, but "went along" on the understanding they would attempt to interview the senior Ford and obtain jobs.

Police and Ford factory guards becoming alarmed at the vast crowd, closed the gates and warned the marchers to keep back. When the crowd surged forward regardless, bullets, bricks and clubs flew into action.

The Boy Scouts of Hope will present a novelty stage attraction at the Saenger theatre Tuesday night at 9 entitled "Building America's Manhood."

The play will be presented on a dark stage, with the story and message brought to the audience entirely by indirect lights. It is something that has never before been seen in Hope and should be the means of giving everyone attending the performance a pleasant evening of entertainment.

Scoutmaster Henry Haynes announced that all the boys in his troop are selling tickets for this show and urges the public to buy tickets from one of the Scouts as the troop will receive a percentage on every ticket they sell.

Wyatt to Be Given Hearing at Spring Hill On Thursday

Sheriff and Deputy Prosecutor Will Examine Second Suspect

NO SPECIAL AGENT

Brother of Wallace, Dead Man, Denies Hiring Private Investigator

Henry Wyatt, second negro suspect in the murder of Alfred Wallace, will be arraigned in preliminary hearing before Justice Mike Foley at Spring Hill at 10 o'clock Thursday morning, it was announced in Hope Tuesday by Sheriff John L. Wilson.

Spring Hill Warrant

Wyatt, who was a witness against Ed Wallace, another negro, when Wallace was held without bail following a hearing in Hope municipal court, was named in a warrant sworn out at Spring Hill by Frank Turner, constable of Spring Hill Township.

Wyatt was arrested several weeks ago by Constable Turner and Jim Bearden, special deputy constable.

Wyatt's hearing was originally set for last Saturday at Spring Hill, but on the protest of Sheriff Wilson and Deputy Prosecuting Attorney John Vessey that they would be unable to present the state's case at that time, it was reset for Thursday. The state will also take Washington to Spring Hill as a witness in the Wyatt case, the sheriff said.

No Family Agent

Rumors that Mr. Bearden had been retained as special investigator by the Wallace family were refuted when T. E. Wallace, brother of the dead man, wrote Sheriff Wilson from Charleston, Miss., that he had "never employed Mr. Bearden, had not paid him a penny, and had not promised to pay him anything."

Mr. Wallace's letter, revealed by Sheriff Wilson Tuesday, continued as follows:

"Somebody must want to 'throw off' responsibility and, as I live a long way off from there, put it on me. You can depend on my statement above, and don't pay any attention to that stuff."

"Some of the people living down in that part of the county (below Spring Hill) employed him (Bearden) before I arrived there—and that is all there is to it. I did not tell them to keep him or not to keep him."

"I asked the citizens down there to lend their efforts to the officers to help catch the guilty man. I encouraged them with the best I could say. I want him caught and executed. They all seemed earnest in their desire to find him and see that he gets the just penalty. None of them asked me for any money and I did not donate or promise any money to anyone. What I want, and all our family wants, is to catch and properly execute the guilty man. Of course we are looking to the officers to do that."

A. D. DuLaney to Run For Congress

Ashdown Man Announces as Candidate From the Fourth District

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—(AP)—A. D. DuLaney, state commissioner of insurance and former prosecuting attorney of the ninth judicial district, has announced his candidacy for congressman from the Fourth district.

He seeks to succeed Mrs. Effie Wingo, who obtained the Democratic state central committee's nomination for congressman two years ago when Mr. DuLaney, who had obtained pledges from a majority of the committee for himself, withdrew his candidacy.

Mr. DuLaney's action, he said in a statement at the time, was prompted by the request of his lifelong friend, Congressman Otis Wingo, who wrote Mr. DuLaney a short time before he entered the hospital for an operation from which he never recovered that he wished Mrs. Wingo to succeed him if it was the wish of the party.

Mr. DuLaney's home is at Ashdown. During his two years as prosecuting attorney, he instituted the practice of asking the court to suspend sentences of juvenile offenders. This practice later was evolved into the present method of handling juvenile cases.

Mr. DuLaney became insurance commissioner last January by appointment from Governor Farnell.

He said he would announce his platform later, when he formally opens his campaign.

Mediators Gather On Sino-Jap War

Neutral Envoys Assembled at Shanghai as Fresh Outbreak Looms

SHANGHAI.—(AP)—Neutral mediators gathered Tuesday afternoon to renew efforts to end fighting in this area.

As they met, reports were heard of an offensive on a major scale developing along a new battle line on the west and northwest of the city—and some believed that Chiang Kai-shek would have a hand in the new campaign.

It is said that the Chinese representatives have not modified their attitude of opposition to any armistice achieved by "humiliating" concessions.

Free Wheat Bill Signed By Hoover

40,000,000 Bushels Held by Farm Board Now Available for Needy

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Forty million bushels of farm board wheat was placed late Monday to the credit of the nation's unemployed and needy.

President Hoover signed the free wheat measure without comment after conferences with Attorney General Mitchell and John Barton Payne, chairman of the American Red Cross, which will distribute the wheat.

Payne objected to a clause of the measure permitting the Red Cross to bake the grain into bread after milling. He said his organization would not undertake this and suggested the president might want a legal ruling upon it. Mitchell was summoned but neither he nor the president would comment upon the result of their conference.

Here is the section to which Payne objected:

"In cities of over 25,000 population the American National Red Cross or any other organization designated by it may have the flour baked into bread, provided that no part of the expense incident to such baking or processing shall be paid out of said wheat or flour and no part of the expense shall be borne by the United States or the Federal Farm Board."

As Payne interpreted the section, it would require the Red Cross to pay for the baking unless this could be obtained gratis from bakers. In his testimony before congressional committee the Red Cross leader indicated willingness to undertake distribution provided his organization was freed of the expense.

He indicated satisfaction with the body of the measure, which he construed as "permitting the Red Cross to have the wheat milled into flour and delivered to the needy, with the cost to come out of the wheat."

Gosnell Elected, Retail Merchants Begin Third Year

J. M. Harbin Chosen Vice-President at Annual Banquet Meeting

MEMBERSHIP IS 48

Hope Association Shows Substantial Progress During Last Year

R. L. (Bob) Gosnell was chosen president of Hope Retail Merchants association Monday night at the New Capital Hotel, at a dinner celebrating the beginning of that organization's third year.

Mr. Gosnell succeeds George W. Robinson, president of the association since its organization in 1930.

J. M. Harbin was chosen vice-president, and the following directors were elected: Mr. Robinson, Mr. Harbin, Theo. P. Witt, Lon Sanders, E. O. Wingfield, R. M. Patterson, C. W. Wetmore, John P. Cox, W. A. Lewis.

Carlton Agate, secretary, was re-elected for the third consecutive year. His annual report showed that the organization has a present membership roll of 48. Nineteen local business firms liquidated, moved, consolidated, or otherwise lost their identity during the past twelve months; while nine new members were added in the same period, Mr. Carlton reported.

Operating revenues of the association for the year were $1,504.80.

Municipal Judge U. A. Gentry made a broad and interesting talk on organized business life, particularly as to its need in a day when not even nations are independent of each other.

"The old idea that every business man must regard his competitor as a 'dog' and 'ruthless' rival has, in our given way," Judge Gentry said, "to the more modern idea that business treats the individual business man as a unit and not as a member of a common improvement."

Dr. Cannon Also Speaks

Dr. G. E. Cannon, also a guest of the association, followed the judge with a discussion of the evolution of local business from an entirely credit basis to "credit and cash." Citing the fact that there will always be a demand for legitimate credit extension, Dr. Cannon went on to say that he believed too many businesses were prone nowadays to overlook cash sales entirely. A healthy balance between cash and credit is the life of business, the speaker concluded.

Other guests besides Judge Gentry and Dr. Cannon were: R. V. Stephenson, Mrs. Jess Harbin, Luther Garner and Elmer Hecht.

The association went on record as endorsing the Clean-Up, Paint-Up campaign to be launched this month by Hope Chamber of Commerce and other civic bodies. A short meeting of the board of directors was called at the conclusion of the public meeting.

Smith, Roosevelt Test Votes Tuesday

New Hampshire Battle-ground in First Presidential Primary

CONCORD, N. H.—(AP)—Opposing forces supporting Alfred E. Smith and Franklin D. Roosevelt for the Democratic presidential nomination lined up in New Hampshire Monday night for their first test of strength at the polls Tuesday.

While political observers here inclined to the belief that because of his earlier entry into the campaign and the fact that his delegate-candidates came from more widely distributed parts of the state, Roosevelt had a slight edge over Smith, they saw possibilities of a divided delegation in the confused line-up of names on the state ballot and the concentration of Smith strength in Manchester.

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—Dr. Charles Brough Tuesday forwarded to Governor Parnell his resignation as special lecturer of the University of Arkansas preliminary to opening his campaign for the United States senate at Fayetteville Tuesday night.

The university board last week adopted a resolution barring members of the faculty staff from participation in state politics.

Dr. Brough said President Futrell was the author of the resolution, and said it was aimed at him.

Dr. Brough was war-time governor of Arkansas, since that time having served as publicist and lecturer for various schools and businesses, becoming attached to the university staff three years ago.

Trunk Murderer Arrested Tuesday

Man Confesses Shipping Body of Landlady in Trunk

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—(AP)—Louis Fine, 50, was charged with murder Tuesday after confessing that he shipped the body of his landlady, Mrs. Mattie Schaaf, to Philadelphia, in a trunk where it was found in a rooming house Monday.

Fine collapsed from a heart attack after his statement and was taken to a hospital under police guard.

Authorities refused to reveal whether he admitted the actual slaying.

The body of the blonde woman, believed to be 50 or 60 years old, was found Monday inside one of two trunks taken to the morgue from a rooming house.

Fine was believed to have been beaten to death by a slayer who took well-planned precautions that her body should not be discovered until he had a chance to get away.

The discovery came after the proprietor of the lodging house, suspicious of the odor which came from the trunk and of the actions of a man who engaged a room there last Saturday, called police. The proprietor said the man had been seen but twice since.

Dollars and Lives
There is no sense whatever in getting vexed with the authorities of the National Zoo because they called in exclusive specialists and apparatus to save the life of their gorilla when it got pneumonia.
The gorilla was a valuable bit of property, and it was their duty to preserve it. There may have been something extremely vexing in the sight of this ape getting all kinds of medical attention at a time when thousands upon thousands of American children aren't even getting enough to eat, but that isn't the fault of the people who run the zoo.
The fault, as a matter of fact, lies with all of us. That is, it is true of nearly all of the troubles that are making life so unpleasant; and while the idea is not an easy one to swallow, we shouldn't move ahead very rapidly until we have made ourselves gulp it down.

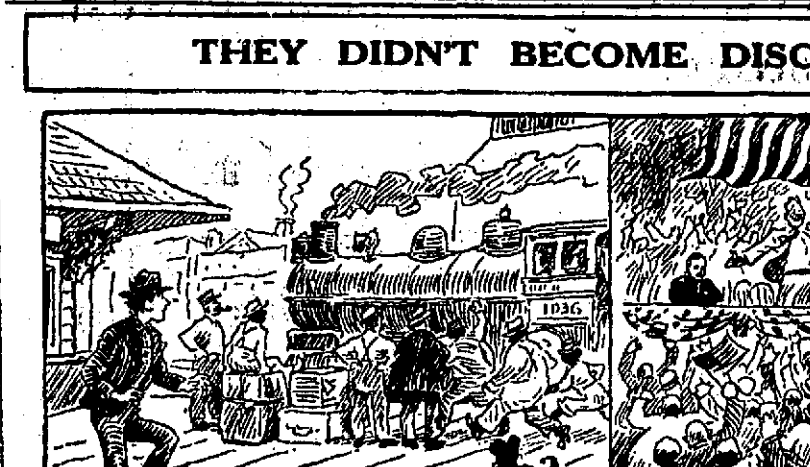

Byrd's Record in Virginia
Friends of Harry Flood Byrd, Virginia's "greatest governor since Thomas Jefferson," are endeavoring to interest Democrats throughout the country in him as a possible nominee for the presidency.
Their chances of success seem none too bright just now, but at least they are performing a public service in putting before citizens of other states information as to some of the things that have been accomplished in Virginia under Byrd's administration.
For instance:
Virginia found it possible in 1931 to reduce the state income tax levy without increasing any other taxes.
Building on a pay-as-you-go basis, Virginia now has 4,000 miles of improved highways and no state highway bonds.
Virginia levies no tax on land and tangible personal property for state purposes.
The state government has been reorganized consolidating 100 agencies into twelve departments at a saving of more than $800,000 per year in operating costs.
Virginia's net debt of $20,000,000 is decreasing year by year under a new constitutional provision permitting no bond issue, state or local, except by direct vote of the people.
Virginia completed 1930 with a cash surplus of $4,256,056, which was not wiped out by the depression year of 1931.
These achievements do not necessarily mean that Harry Flood Byrd is the best available man for the Democratic party to nominate for the presidency. They do show what can be accomplished in the way of business like administration of state affairs.—Blytheville Courier News.

Smedley Butler
ANNOUNCEMENT that General Smedley Butler is going to run for the Republican nomination for senator in Pennsylvania against Senator James J. Davis insures Pennsylvania and the rest of the country of at least one contest that ought to be exceedingly interesting to watch, no matter which way it goes.
Just what chance the doughty general has of ever getting to the Senate, and how good a senator he might make if he got there, are matters with which we needn't concern ourselves at this moment. The thing that occurs to us first of all is that it ought to be a lively, old-fashioned, rip-snorting campaign.
General Butler was never noted for tactfulness or for easy-going. Judging the future by the past, one imagines that there is one senatorial contest that will be enlivened by plenty of plain, forthright speaking.

Woman you love what a damned fool you've been.
"Have you ever thought the woman might understand?"
"You'd understand, Ellen?"
"Give me a chance then."
"Very well, my dear. I don't want things spoiled for you by the newspapers or by—Leda."
"The newspapers?" Ellen asked.
"Can't you see what a story they'd make of our marriage? It was announced it publicly? Can't you?"
"You mean they'd call me a gold-digger?" Ellen interrupted mischievously.
"More likely they'd call me a cradle-robbler," he countered.
"The muckrakers would never dare to infer such a thing!" she said in mock indignation.
"A young fellow like you!"
He laughed, sobered suddenly.
"It's not entirely a laughing matter, darling." He went on slowly, "The reporters could make a horror out of the time I want you to remember as the sweetest of your life."
THE girl felt her heart set up a thick, uncomfortable tattoo. She would not meet his eyes.
"You know how unfortunate my second marriage was," Steven was saying in that grave, disturbing tone. "Even if I would I couldn't explain Leda Grayson to you. I don't and will never understand her. If she knew of your existence, though she has long since lost any interest in me, she would stop at nothing to make things disagreeable for you. She would stop at nothing to obtain for herself columns of newspaper publicity—any kind of publicity."
His voice stopped. He was tortured with the burning embarrassment of the shy, self-contained woman who are forced by circumstance to abandon their reserve.
"When shall we make our announcement?" Ellen asked.
"After we're married," said Steven promptly. "By the time we're returned our marriage won't be news any longer."
"Then it's settled."
"You're not disappointed because you won't walk down the aisle of St. Thomas' with an armload of lilacs?"
"Disappointed!" she scoffed. "I should say not. I'd be frightened."

Fingerprints Experts Used in Courthouse Robbery
FLAING, Tex.—A fingerprint expert Sunday night examined two vaults in the Flamingo county courthouse in an effort to gain clues that might lead to the apprehension of robbers who broke into the vaults and obtained about $7,000.
The vaults were used by W. H. Haggue, county clerk, and Walter Moreman, sheriff and county tax collector.
The money that the robbers obtained belonged to Joe Weber, who works off the books of the county officers.
The vaults were found broken open Sunday morning by county officers.

THEY DIDN'T BECOME DISCOURAGED
Melvin Traylor, seeing his first railroad train when 19 years old, was not discouraged by the long and difficult road to a success which seemed to lie remotely ahead.
Today he is one of the most trusted of the nation's financial leaders. He has lost none of the simple democracy of his youth and his Kentucky friends hope he may gain the Democratic presidential nomination.

Ramsay MacDonald, by opposing Britain's participation in the great war, was resented as a traitor by his war-inflamed countrymen. He was not discouraged.
Today he is the head of the British government and upon him is centered the hopes of the nation for delivery from its crushing problems.

Gandhi, scrambling to escape being run down by the vicar's carriage, did not lose hope, although the road to success seemed beset by insurmountable obstacles.
Today Gandhi has the largest personal following of any living man. In England he is feared because of his immense influence in India and respected because he is proof against all diplomatic flattery.

Refuse Rescue
EVANSVILLE, Ind.—Henry Freudenberg, Sidney Watson and Clifford Garrett went rabbit hunting in a rowboat. High water in the Ohio River had flooded a section near Howell. Several rabbits were marooned on floating logs. The "hunters" went out and caught 12, but when they had them all in the boat, the bunnies started hopping out into the river again. The final catch totaled four rabbits.

Serious Communist Clashes Are Reported
SHANGHAI.—(AP)—Dispatches from Kiangsi reported serious communist outbreaks in the southern part of Kiangsi province Sunday night, with the communists laying siege to Kanchow.
Provincial troops were opposing the communists, the dispatches said, while it was understood that the Chinese national government had ordered three divisions to go into Kiangsi and undertake to suppress the outbreaks.

Tailor Says Wives Have Best Taste
Women Understand Color Combinations Better Than Men
NEW YORK.—(AP)—Gentlemen, if you would be well tailored and fashionably dressed, let your wife pick out your clothes.
William C. Norris, Manhattan tailor, says women have decided preferences for certain styles and good taste in colors and patterns of fabrics.
"They do not seem as well versed in the intrinsic qualities of cloth as men, but they do know the cloth that will make an attractive smoking suit and they understand the color combinations that will be most becoming to the man they want especially well dressed," he said.

MANY WOMEN Have Been Helped Like This
"ABOUT four years ago, I suffered a great deal with pains in my back and sides," writes Mrs. D. A. Bush, of Roxton, Texas. "I did not feel like doing my housework, or anything else. I would get nervous, and my back would hurt worse. One of my neighbors asked me what I was doing for myself. I told her 'most everything. Then she asked me if I had ever taken Cardui. I told her 'no' but I would try it. Before I had finished one bottle I could tell the difference in my feelings, but I kept on taking Cardui until I felt strong and well again."

It is pleasant to think, just under the snow
That stretches so bleak and blank and cold,
Are beauty and warmth that we cannot know—
Green fields and leaves and blossoms of gold.
Yes, under the frozen and dumb expanse,
Unattended by bee or bird or flower,
A world where the leaping fountains glance
And the buds expand, is waiting the hour.
And often now when the skies are wild,
And hoarse and suffer the night winds blow,
And lanes and hollows with drifts are piled,
We think of the violets under the snow.
So there, from the outer sense concealed,
It lies—shut in by a veil of snow,
But there, to the inward eye revealed
Are bought that blossom and flowers that glow.—Fay Hempstead.

Denies Mississippi River Means 'Father of Waters'

DULUTH, Minn.—(P)—The theory that Mississippi means 'great father of waters' has been disputed by the records of the St. Louis County Historical society here.

William E. Calkin, president of the society, explains that there is nothing concerning "father" in the name Mississippi, originally applied to the stream by the northern Chippewa Indians.

"It simply means 'great river,'" Calkin says. "Missi" means "great" and "sibi" means "river," he explains.

City Has Plenty of Cash, Defers Tax Collections

CANADIAN, Texas.—(P)—The business slump has not affected the financial standing of this little city of 2,000 persons.

Canadian owns its water, sewer, light and power plants, and all of them are operating at a profit. The city has assets of $402,400 and a bonded indebtedness of only $147,500.

The tax levy is $1, and the payment of 1931 taxes has been deferred to August 1, the city having plenty of cash with which to operate.

Drug and Hardware Stores Longest Lived in Illinois

CHICAGO.—(P)—Drug and hardware stores have the lowest "mortality rate" among Illinois businesses. In the five years from 1935 to 1939, a survey by the University of Illinois showed only 24 per cent of the drug stores and 28 per cent of the hardware stores in 255 cities quit business.

Bad Judgment

HALIFAX, N. S.—The police department used bad judgment when they sent Police-constable Herbert William Lee to investigate a report of a sinking section in a road near Boothtown. A ladder had to be lowered to get him out.

Frigidaire Posts New Low Prices

Drastric Reduction Announced on Electric Refrigeration Units

DAYTON, Ohio.—Frigidaire Corporation Monday announced sweeping price reductions on its complete line of household refrigerators. The lowest priced model, the ML-4 is listed at $130, at the factory.

The drastic reductions were made as a result of a nation-wide survey which indicated that there are hundreds of thousands of people who would like to own a Frigidaire, but have deferred its actual purchase because of price, according to H. W. Newell, vice president in charge of sales, who made the announcement.

"This information has convinced us that such people who are already familiar with the superior features of our product, will want to place orders immediately, when they learn of these new prices, which shatter all former standards in the electric refrigeration industry," he said.

"In line with General Motors policy of passing savings on to the consumer, we have anticipated the economies in manufacturing that can be effected by greatly increased production and are offering the public the advantage of these savings in advance."

Not So Bad

LONDON.—If Edward Thompson had been a swearing man, he would have let out a few choice expletives when one of his bicycle tires was punctured. As it was, he was a bit nettled. He fixed the puncture and started pedaling home. He hadn't gone far before he noticed a piece of paper sticking to the tire. It was a $5 note sticking to the rubber solution he had spilled on the tire.

Earl Page's Weekly Letter to Farmers

Commissioner Gives Advice on Killing and Curing of Hogs

The weather conditions this season have been very unfavorable for killing hogs and saving the meat. It is one thing to raise plenty of hogs to supply the meat on the farm, and quite another to select the right time of kill and butcher, and be able to save the meat. With plenty of real cold weather during December, January and February, there is no trouble in saving the hog meat. Due to weather conditions it is likely that many farmers have not butchered all of their meat hogs yet. In view of this fact, let me suggest a method of saving the meat, that may be helpful to many farmers who have fat hogs to butcher for meat during the balance of the year. Instead of killing and butchering early in the morning, as seems to be customary with many, it is better to butcher and dress the meat in the afternoon. After cutting up the carcass of the hog into hams, shoulders, middlings, etc., each piece should be well-rubbed in with a mixture of salt, sugar, saltpepper, black and red pepper. The mixture should be about as follows: 25 pounds of salt; 5 pounds of sugar (brown sugar preferred); 5 pounds of saltpepper; one pound of black pepper; one pound of real good, hot, red pepper, well ground. Make a generous application of this mixture to the meat, rubbing it in well, after which hang it up in a cool place, and allow it to hang. Do not pack down in boxes or barrels, but hang up. The pepper will keep away all flies, etc. The saltpepper and salt will aid in preserving, and cause the blood and liquids to drain freely from the meat. After it has drained and dried sufficiently, the meat may be smoked.

The cotton farmers of Arkansas have been plagued with the Mexican boll weevil for many years. This bug has reduced the average per acre cotton yield for years. Down in the state of Chiapas, Mexico, where the boll weevil has been operating for several hundred years, the Indians and Mexicans, who are rather low in intelligence, have had a practical way of combating the boll weevil for some hundred years. The method worked well, still works well, and is very simple, and they have little trouble with the weevils. Down there the information is general that it is useless to plant cotton in odd years, and they abide by it. By this method they starve out the weevils every other year, and the following year make a good crop. It seems a more highly intelligent people resort to more expensive methods and suffer greater expense and loss. In the meantime, however, two plant scientists of the United States named Collins and Doyle, discovered a strain of cotton in Mexico that was resistant to the boll weevil, but it was not well adapted to commercial production in this country. Later, along came the Mendel law, and these two scientists renewed their work, but found the boll weevil resistant variety of cotton had been lost. Now they have rediscovered this peculiar variety of cotton and through the use of the Mendel law, by which they hope to be able to graft plants with the big-bolled, high yielding and good lint varieties of this country, and devise a means of combating the weevils. On behalf of the people of this community and state I want to thank you for your splendid efforts which resulted in the shipping of the car of foodstuffs to Yankton. The people, many of them, hereabouts feed it and two or three years, we shall know whether or not they are successful. If so, the average per acre yield of cotton throughout the South will return to something like 200 to 250 pounds of lint per acre, and then we shall have only two problems left to the cotton growers—acreage reduction and overproduction.

How many farmers are preparing to have plenty of milk and butter, chickens and eggs, a good garden, plenty of vegetables, to raise their own meat, maintain a permanent pasturage and make an abundance of feed, this year? Those who do not may have a hard time next fall and winter.

Col. Jay R. Shook Dies in Washington

Found in Hospital Room, Strangled by Bed Clothing

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Jay R. Shook of the Army Medical Corps, commanding officer of the Army and Navy hospital at Hot Springs, Ark., was found dead Sunday night in his room at Walter Reed hospital. Shook, who entered Walter Reed last week for mental observation, was found by an orderly, with bed clothing wrapped around his neck and tied to the bed. The officer was lying on the floor, apparently unconscious from strangulation. A doctor later pronounced him dead. His widow was en route from Hot Springs Monday. It was said that burial would be in Arlington National cemetery, although funeral arrangements were incomplete pending her arrival and completion of an inquest by military authorities. Born in 1878, a native of Pennsylvania, Colonel Shook entered the service in 1900, after graduating from the University of Maryland Medical school in 1899.

Death Shock to Hot Springs
HOT SPRINGS, News of the death of Col. Jay R. Shook, commanding officer of the Army and Navy hospital here Sunday morning in Washington, was received by his fellow officers with regret. Colonel Shook arrived in Hot Springs October 15, 1931, succeeding Col. J. L. Lyster. Colonel Shook brought with him his wife and little daughter. He was regarded as one of the outstanding officers in the medical branch of the army. He told friends on his arrival that this was one post to which he was anxious to be assigned, and the pleasure of his appointment to Hot Springs, he said, was enhanced by the knowledge that he would remain here until the completion of the new $1,500,000 hospital, now being constructed. Colonel Shook's last public appearance was early last week when he presided at the annual dinner given by himself and staff to members of the Garland and Pulaski County Medical societies. Shortly after that Colonel Shook arrived he was taken seriously ill. His condition for a time was regarded as critical, although the exact nature of his illness was not made public. A few days after he presided at the banquet he suffered a complete nervous collapse. He was transferred immediately to the Walter Reed hospital in Washington for observation and treatment.

DENVER, Col.—You've got to hand some kind of a media to Thomas Hall, 41, for his judgment in automobile driving. He recently talked into police headquarters, threw his keys of his car on the desk and said: "Look me up. I've been drinking and it isn't safe for me to drive a car." He was lodged for the night and let off without a fine.
